Teaching Pedagogy

Embracing Change: Teaching Pedagogy in Line with NEP 2020

Our university is stepping into a future of dynamic learning experiences, guided by the transformative vision of the National Education Policy 2020 (NEP 2020). This policy advocates for a shift towards a more engaging, holistic, and learner-centric approach to education, and our teaching methods are evolving to reflect these changes.

1. Experiential Learning:

JSPM University emphasizes learning by doing, encouraging students to engage in hands-on projects, simulations, field trips, and problem-solving activities. Imagine dissecting virtual ecosystems in biology, creating mock business pitches in entrepreneurship, or conducting social surveys for psychology research.

2. Collaborative Learning:

We organize Group discussions, debates, role-playing activities, and team projects become central to the learning process. By working together, students hone their communication, critical thinking, and conflict-resolution skills while learning to appreciate diverse perspectives and arrive at shared solutions. Picture history debates on current events, science experiments conducted by peer groups, or literary analysis discussions facilitated by student-led panels.

3. Integrated Learning:

JSPM University encourages exploring how concepts from different fields interact and influence each other. This integrated approach helps students build a comprehensive understanding of the world and its complexities.

4. Flipped Classroom Model:

The traditional lecture format takes a backseat in this innovative approach. Students engage with pre-recorded lectures or learning materials at their own pace outside class, while classroom time becomes dedicated to Interactive activities, discussions, and problem-solving facilitated by the instructor. This empowers students to take ownership of their learning and allows for personalized support during classroom sessions.

5. Assessment Beyond Exams:

Think presentations, portfolios, debates, simulations, peer feedback, and self-reflection exercises. These alternative assessments provide a more holistic picture of a student's understanding and skills, going beyond rote memorization and encouraging deeper conceptual engagement. JSPM University fosters a generation of critical thinkers, problem solvers, and lifelong learners, shaping a brighter future for all.
